

A line drawing of a shower stall. It features a rectangular base with a circular drain in the center. A sliding glass door is shown in the open position, revealing a vertical track and a handle. The stall is set within a corner of a room, with walls and a ceiling indicated by simple lines.

