

[illegible]

-
- A line drawing of a shower door. The door is a rectangular panel with a thick black frame. It is shown in a slightly open position, revealing a shower pan at the bottom. A long, thin handle is attached to the top edge of the door frame, extending outwards. The door is set within a simple frame representing the shower enclosure walls.

