This diagram illustrates the application of a red sealant to the bathtub's edge. A hand is shown using a nozzle to apply the sealant along the top edge of the tub, which is set into a tiled surround. Another hand is shown applying the sealant to the side of the tub. A warning icon in the bottom right corner shows a shower head with a red prohibition sign over it, indicating that the tub should not be used for showering. Below the icon is a clock face and the text "12 h", indicating a 12-hour drying time.
